Inspiration for Bea Bongiasca creations comes from a fascination for Asia. Bea fuses visual languages and knowledge acquired during her travels with her deep passion for pop culture and its western style. The collections, entirely hand-made in Italy, are conceived as a form of art and this vision is fundamental in the design stage. Even in the new Floricultural Collection, Bea gives in to her love for Eastern aesthetics and cultures by drawing on Hanakotoba, the Japanese language of flowers.
